

IWB Business Model

Italian Wine Brands

1. Company Overview: Vision, Mission, Values

Who we are

IWB is the largest private wine group in Italy, the first to be listed on the Milan stock exchange. Selecting the most prestigious wine-growing areas in Italy, producing quality wines that are sold around the world through Ho.re.ca., large distribution outlets, and online sales channels.

IWB can promptly fulfil the needs of companies and individual clients with their proprietary brands.

IWB differentiates itself through a multi-brand, multi-channel strategy that combines:

- Traditional B2B distribution (GDO, retailers, importers)
- Direct-to-consumer (D2C) channels, especially e-commerce
- Strong international presence, with a significant share of revenues generated outside Italy

Where we are

1. Milan – Group Headquarter
2. Alba (CN) – Cellars and Bottling
3. Rovereto (TN) – Wholesale Department
4. Bardolino (VR) – Cellars and Bottling
5. Torricella (TA) – Cellars and Bottling
6. Montebello Vicentino (VI) – Cellars and Bottling
7. Cetona (SI) – Cellars and Bottling
8. Zurich – Swiss Headquarter

Producers for 120 years

IWB have been producing wines since 1900 in their cellars, sourcing the raw material from a strong network of suppliers, according to strict quality protocols guaranteed by the constant supervision of their oenologists. Their products are inspired by the best of the Italian wine tradition, from South Tyrol to Sicily. Among their flagship labels are the greatest Italian wines: Barolo, Amarone, Prosecco, Primitivo di Manduria.

The original winery is in the Langhe region of Piedmont, in the heart of Barolo, where the vinification, ageing and bottling facilities are located. A second winery is strategically located in Apulia, in Torricella, the land of Primitivo di Manduria, with a vinification and ageing centre. Two more wineries are in Veneto, one of which specialises in sparkling wines, especially Prosecco. Our experience and production capacity can cover all the requirements of the modern market.

Certified quality

The quality of their products and processes is certified according to international standards (IFS food , BRCGS food) and by important awards received in the main European, American and Asian wine competitions.

Sustainability: a concrete road

We think of sustainability as a virtuous process that involves not only environmental concerns, but also the societal and economic needs of the region we are in.

That is why all of our actions are based on three fundamental pillars:

Environmental sustainability

Ensure the quality and availability of natural resources

Social sustainability

Offer quality of work and life to employees and partners

Economic sustainability

Ensure economic efficiency and value at every stage of our work processes

Our vision

“One of our bottles, with our brand, everywhere, to make customers happy, which in turn will make us happy too”

To become a leading global ambassador of Italian wine by offering high-quality, authentic, and innovative products that celebrate the richness of Italian winemaking and create long-lasting value for customers, partners, and stakeholders.

Our mission

Creating and developing brands that are valued by customers for their quality and reputation. Distributing them on a global scale across all sales channels.

- To craft and distribute a diverse range of Italian wines that meet the tastes and expectations of consumers worldwide.
- To leverage a multi-brand and multi-channel approach, combining traditional distribution with advanced digital platforms, to reach customers efficiently and personally.
- To operate with a commitment to quality, sustainability, and responsible winemaking.
- To invest in innovation, data-driven marketing, and supply-chain excellence to strengthen competitiveness and global reach.
- To build long-term value by expanding internationally and continuously improving operational performance.

OUR VALUES

The customer is our employer

We work together to make our customers happy, so they guarantee our growth, well-being and security.

Respect for rules, people and promises

By creating a positive, fair, happy working environment, we will be respected by our colleagues and on the market.

Quality

Each one of us is responsible for the final quality of the product and service. We are committed to continual improvement in order to be ahead of the competition and preferred by customers.

Personal growth

The team wins if it is united and running towards the same goal. We listen, respect and support each other so that working is a pleasure and an opportunity for growth for all.

Innovation and entrepreneurship

We look ahead and innovate to keep up with the times. Everyone is responsible for seizing opportunities, solving problems quickly and making things happen.

2. Business Model Canvas

Key Partners

IWB's Key Partners include grape suppliers, bottling and packaging providers, logistics and distribution partners, and digital/e-commerce service providers that enable large-scale production and global commercialization.

Packaging Suppliers

- Major glass bottle manufacturers typically used by large Italian wine producers (e.g., Verallia, O-I Glass).
- Cork and closure suppliers specialised in premium wines (e.g., Amorim Cork, Guala Closures).
- Producers of packaging materials such as labels, cartons, and sustainable packaging solutions.

Agricultural and Production Partners

- Long-term agreements with grape growers and vineyards across Northern and Central Italy.
- Contract wine producers and cooperative wineries for sourcing DOC/DOCG and IGT wines.
- Providers of oenological products (yeasts, additives, filtration systems).

Logistics and Distribution Partners

- International freight forwarders and logistics operators (e.g., DHL, DB Schenker, BRT/GLS).
- Domestic and international distributors for horeca, retail, and large-scale retail channels.
- E-commerce fulfilment partners for direct-to-consumer sales.

Commercial and Retail Partners

- Large retail chains and supermarket groups in Italy and Europe.
- International wine importers and specialist retailers (e.g., Laithwaites, Total Wine, LCBO in Canada).

Technology & Marketing Partners

- Digital agencies and e-commerce platforms supporting IWB's online presence.
- CRM, ERP, and data-analytics software providers.
- Marketing agencies for brand promotion in core foreign markets.

Regulatory & Certification Partners

- Sustainability and quality certification bodies (e.g., BIO, VEGAN, BRC, IFS certifiers).
- Industry consortia protecting DOC/DOCG denominations.

Key Activities

Production and Winemaking

- Management of wineries and main production sites: Calmasino, Montebello, Cetona.
- Production of various types of wines: still, sparkling, Prosecco, ready-to-drink products, and dealcoholised wines.

Quality Control and Certifications

- ISO 9001 (quality), GFSI / BRCGS / IFS Food (food safety), ISO 14001 (environmental management), ISO 45001 (occupational health and safety), VIVA (sustainability), Sedex SMETA (ethics and supply chain).

Research and Development / Product Innovation

- Launch of new products and variants: ready-to-drink wines, dealcoholised wines.
- Innovations to respond to consumer trends: focus on organic, sustainable, vegan products, lightweight packaging, and moderate consumption.
- Adaptation of the product portfolio to the preferences of different international markets.

Marketing and Sales (especially digital)

- Management of high-margin “Top Brands.”
- Product communication and storytelling (labeling, packaging, international promotion).
- Digitalization and online sales: e-commerce platform, social media, virtual events.
- Innovative services for online customers: virtual assistant “Nando” providing wine recommendations and pairings.
- International positioning strategies with a focus on key markets (USA, Canada, Brazil, Eastern Europe).

Supply Chain and Procurement Management

- Strategic sourcing of raw materials with a reduction in unit costs.
- Partnership with Cantine Ermenegildo Zegna to increase volumes and ensure production according to IWB standards.
- Supplier control and qualification according to quality, ethics, and safety certifications.

Internal Organization and Management

- Corporate reorganization for efficiency (merger and rationalization of structures).
- Employee motivation and management (bonuses, health and safety programs).
- Financial and cash management to support investments and growth.
- Ethical and legal compliance activities: code of ethics, whistleblowing, Sedex SMETA ethical certifications.

Key Resources

Extensive portfolio of 26 brands (Giordano, Svinando, Barbanera, Grande Alberone...)

The Group leverages a wide range of premium and own-brand wines to cater to different markets, channels, and customer segments, enhancing brand recognition and market penetration globally.

Wineries, vineyards, and production facilities

Strategic locations in Calmasino, Montebello Vicentino, and Cetona with modern production lines, storage, and photovoltaic systems ensure efficient and sustainable wine production.

Enological and technical expertise

Experienced winemakers and production staff provide the know-how to create high-quality blends, manage bulk wine sourcing, and ensure product consistency across markets.

Global distribution network

Strong international reach through wholesale, Ho.Re.Ca, and direct-to-consumer channels, with particular focus on key markets like the UK, USA, Canada, and Poland.

Customer databases (especially from e-commerce)

Data from online platforms (e.g., Svinando) and other direct sales channels allow targeted marketing, improved customer engagement, and optimized sales strategies.

Digital platforms and technological infrastructure

E-commerce websites, order management systems, and supply chain tools support sales, improve customer experience, and enable efficient operational management.

Brand reputation and quality certifications

Recognized for product quality, safety, and sustainability through ISO 9001, ISO 14001, ISO 45001, BRCGS, IFS, VIVA Sustainability, and Sedex SMETA certifications, reinforcing trust with customers and partners.

Financial resources and network

Solid financial position, strong cash generation capabilities, and established partnerships with international distributors and bulk wine suppliers, providing flexibility and growth potential.

Value Proposition

1. High-Quality Italian Wines Across Multiple Price Segments

IWB offers a wide portfolio of Italian wines, from everyday drinking labels to premium DOC/DOCG selections, ensuring accessibility for mainstream consumers and strong appeal for connoisseurs. The breadth of brands allows the Group to satisfy diverse tastes, consumption occasions, and international preferences.

2. Multi-Channel Distribution Model (Unique Strength)

IWB integrates B2B, B2C, e-commerce, and retail partnerships, offering maximum convenience to customers and strong resilience against market fluctuations. The direct-to-consumer model through Giordano and Svinando is a distinctive differentiator in the wine industry.

3. Global Market Reach with Localised Offer

The company operates in more than 80 countries, adapting product styles, packaging, and communication to local consumer trends (e.g., Prosecco in the US, organic wines in Brazil, premium reds in Asia). This enables IWB to capture growth in emerging markets.

4. Innovation in Products, Packaging, and Sustainability

IWB invests in:

- Organic and vegan-certified wines
- Sustainable lightweight glass
- Modern, market-driven packaging
- Low-alcohol and alcohol-free alternatives
- Sparkling wine innovation (Prosecco, frizzante, aromatized)

This aligns with global trends in healthier lifestyles and eco-conscious consumption.

5. Reliable Large-Scale Production & Quality Consistency

As one of Italy's largest wine groups, IWB guarantees:

- robust supply chain control
 - high production volumes
 - strict quality standards
 - stability and reliability for international distributors
- This is highly valued by retail chains and importers.

Customer Relationship

IWB manages several proprietary e-commerce platforms (e.g., Giordano, Svinando) and builds strong ongoing relationships through:

- Personalised digital engagement
- Loyalty and retention programmes
- Customer support & service
- Community building & brand storytelling
- Limited editions
- Wine clubs and curated packs for enthusiasts
- Long-term relationships with distributors and retailers

Channels

Italian Wine Brands uses a multi-channel distribution model that integrates direct, retail, and international B2B channels. Its strength lies in balancing traditional wine distribution with modern digital touchpoints.

Proprietary e-commerce platforms

IWB reaches millions of consumers directly through its online stores, including:

- Giordano Vini (historic D2C platform)
- Svinando Wine Club (flash sales, curated selections)

Social media & digital advertising

Used to attract new customers and drive traffic to the e-commerce ecosystem.

Email marketing / newsletters

A key conversion and retention tool for the D2C segment.

Large-scale retail distribution

- Italian supermarkets
- International grocery retailers

Wine shops & specialised retailers

Both independent and chain stores that offer curated product selections.

Ho.Re.Ca. Channels (Hotel, Restaurant, Catering)

B2B Export Channels

 - Traditional wine buyers (40+ years old)
 - Digital wine shoppers / e-commerce users
 - Price-sensitive consumers
2. Business-to-Business (B2B) Customers
 - Large-scale retail chains (GDO)
 - Importers & international distributors
 - Specialised wine retailers
 - Ho.Re.Ca. (restaurants, hotels, bars, catering)
3. Emerging & Trend-Based Segments
 - Consumers of organic / sustainable wines
 - Low alcohol / non-alcohol wine explorers

Cost Structure

- Purchase of grapes and raw materials
- Production, bottling, and packaging
- Logistics and distribution costs
- Marketing and promotional investments
- E-commerce-related costs (technology, advertising, warehousing)
- Personnel and organizational expenses
- R&D investments
- Brand development and international expansion

Revenue Streams

- Sales of Bottled Wine (Core Revenue)
- E-commerce & Direct-to-Consumer (DTC)
- Private Label & Retailer Brands
- B2B wine sales
- HoReCa
- International distribution

MASI Business Model

MASI - Business Model

Key Partners

- Vineyard & Estate Partners

Masi owns or controls several historic estates, including Serego Alghieri (Valpolicella) and Canevel (Prosecco).

These partners ensure access to high-quality vineyards, heritage terroir, and production diversity.

- Distributor / Importer – Vineyard Brands (USA)

Santa Margherita USA: official U.S. importer for Masi Agricola.

Vineyard Brands USA: Masi collaborates with them for the import and distribution of its Serego Alghieri wines in the United States.

Eggers & Franke Holding: Masi's distributor in Germany.

Beluga Group (Russia): strategic distribution partnership.

- Travel-Retail Partner – Intagulf Travel Retail

Masi has a partnership with Intagulf Travel Retail to supply premium Amarone and other wines at Dubai Duty-Free. This is key for their presence in the travel retail / duty-free segment.

- Alliance for R&D – International Wine Consortium

Masi is a member of a consortium focused on vine and wine research that includes global players. This supports innovation in viticulture, sustainability, and winemaking.

- Family / Shareholders – Alcedo SGR

Alcedo SGR, a private equity firm, owns part of Masi after a capital increase. This financial partner supports long-term growth and possible M&A or international expansion.

- Packaging suppliers (glass, corks, labels, sustainable packaging providers).

- Logistics & freight partners (international shipping, cold-chain & DTC fulfilment).

- Trade associations and certification bodies (DOC/DOCG, sustainability certifiers).

- Marketing & digital agencies (brand campaigns, e-commerce optimisation).

- Banks and financial partners (for working capital and M&A financing).

Key Activities

- Appassimento (Grape Drying)
Masi uses the traditional appassimento method, drying grapes for weeks/months to concentrate sugars and flavors, a process critical for Amarone production.
- Winemaking & Fermentation
Specialized fermentation techniques including double fermentation (e.g., for Ripasso) and long aging in barriques or large casks.
Continuous experimentation with native grape varieties (e.g. Oseleta) to preserve tradition and enhance complexity.
- Research & Innovation
Masi has a “Technical Group” composed of agronomists and oenologists dedicated to innovation in viticulture and winemaking.
Studies on grape genetics (e.g. Corvina DNA) to optimize aromatic profiles during appassimento.
Adoption of sustainable practices via its “Masi Green Governance” project, integrating ESG and environmental research.
- Wine Tourism & Experiential Offering
Operation of the Masi Wine Experience, including winery tours, tastings, and hospitality across several estates (Valpolicella, Lake Garda, Argentina).
Inauguration of Monteleone21, a flagship production and experiential hub where visitors can explore the cellar, tasting rooms, and wine production in a modern yet terroir-rooted space.
- Aging and Cellar Management
Long-term aging in barrels and casks, monitoring how appassito wines develop under different wood types.
Maintenance of temperature-controlled drying rooms (“arele”) where grape bunches dry under precisely controlled humidity and airflow conditions.
- Brand & Heritage Management
Preservation of its Venetian wine heritage, particularly with historic estates, including Serego Alghieri.
Marketing and brand storytelling around Amarone, Valpolicella tradition, and the family legacy of the Boscaini dynasty.
Maintaining its status through national and international wine awards and premium positioning.
- Quality control and certification processes
Masi rigorously monitors wine quality through lab analyses, tasting panels, and aging tests to maintain its premium standard.
- International sales & distribution management
Masi exports a significant portion of its production globally, relying on a network of importers and distributors in over 70+ markets.

Value Proposition

- Cultural & Territorial Authenticity

The Boscaini family (owners) embody continuity: Sandro Boscaini is 6th generation, reinforcing authenticity.

MASI promotes Venetian culture and heritage, not just wine as a product, but as a vehicle for local identity.

- Premium & Diversified Product Portfolio

MASI offers a multi-tiered wine range:

Top wines (e.g., Amarone, Recioto), aged, prestige segment.

Premium wines (e.g., Supervenetian, Campofiorin), accessible sophistication.

Classic wines more everyday “classic” regional wines.

- Innovation + Research

MASI couples tradition with constant experimentation and research, especially in viticulture and winemaking, to modernize classic regional values.

- Sustainable & Responsible Governance

MASI has adopted a Benefit Company status, explicitly embedding social, environmental, and territorial goals into its corporate mission.

Through its “Masi Green Governance” project, the company integrates ESG factors into governance, management, and operations.

- Global Reach & Export Orientation

MASI has strong international distribution: presence in ~ 100+ countries.

Historically, over 80–90% of revenue comes from exports.

- Direct-to-Consumer Experience

Through the Masi Wine Experience program, MASI connects directly with consumers via winery visits, tastings, wine bar / restaurants, accommodation, and a wine museum.

Customer Relationships

- Direct-to-consumer engagement through wine-tourism & estate visits
Masi runs Masi Wine Experience, offering tours, tastings and visits in its historic estates and wineries (Valpolicella, Lake Garda, Valdobbiadene, Dolomites, etc.) to build emotional connection with consumers.
They recently developed a new flagship experiential hub, Monteleone21, designed to strengthen direct relationships with end-customers via immersive wine-culture experiences, tasting rooms, and hospitality.
- B2B relationship management — export partners, importers & distributors
Masi operates in many countries (export-oriented business), so managing relationships with international importers, distributors and on-trade / off-trade clients is essential for stability and global reach
- Digital & e-commerce support for consumers (online sales + platform compliance)
Masi offers online sales through its website / e-commerce platform, and follows transparent terms & conditions (sales contract, age verification, customer support via platform). This ensures legal compliance and protects relationship with online customers.

Customer Segments

- Premium Consumers / Wine Enthusiasts
- International Consumers / Export-Oriented Clients
- Horeca, Retailers & Importers / B2B Channels
- Tourists / Wine Tourism & Brand Experience Seekers
Visitors to Masi estates or Wine Bars / Wine Experience: via Masi Wine Experience (MWE), Masi targets people interested not just in wine, but in immersive experiences, territory culture, winery visits, tastings, pairings, storytelling of the brand and family.
- Sustainability & Territory-Conscious Consumers
People valuing tradition, local identity, and the link with territory: Masi emphasizes roots in Valpolicella Classica, use of indigenous grapes, and traditional methods, appealing to consumers sensitive to these aspects.
Global consumers interested in “authentic Italian experiences”: Masi positions itself as an ambassador of quality Italian wine and heritage for worldwide audiences.

Key Resources

- Historic vineyards and land holdings
Masi Agricola traces its origins back to 1772, when the family began cultivating the vineyards in the “Vaio dei Masi” in the heart of Valpolicella Classica.
Over time, Masi expanded: now the group controls hundreds of hectares of vineyards, not only in Valpolicella but also across other regions and countries (e.g. holdings in Tuscany, Argentina, etc.)
- Production infrastructure: wineries, cellars, facilities for vinification and ageing
Masi owns cantinas / production sites capable of vinification, drying/appassimento, ageing and bottling, enabling it to craft high-quality wines like Amarone and other premium labels.
- Brand name, heritage and intangible “terroir + tradition” value
The heritage dating back to the 18th century, the longstanding presence of the founding family (the Boscaini family) across generations, gives Masi a strong legacy and authenticity that is hard to replicate.
- Technical expertise: enologists, agronomists, viticulture and winemaking
The presence of a “Gruppo Tecnico Masi” (Masi Technical Group), composed of experts (viticulturists, enologists, agronomists), ensures consistent quality standards and innovation in viticulture and enology.

Channels

- International distributors & importers (primary B2B channel).
- Large-scale retail & specialised wine shops (shelf presence).
- E-commerce and third-party marketplaces (D2C).
- Winery tasting rooms and direct sales at estate (enotourism).

Cost Structure

- Viticulture & harvest costs (seasonal labour, vineyard maintenance).
- Winemaking & ageing costs (barrels, tanks, cellaring).
- Packaging costs (glass, closures, labels) — significant for premium positioning.
- Distribution & logistics (export freight, customs, warehousing).
- Sales & marketing expenses (trade shows, digital campaigns, promotions).
- Personnel & overheads (oenologists, sales, admin).
- Depreciation & maintenance of production assets.
- Certification & compliance costs (DOC/DOCG, sustainability).

Revenue Streams

- Bottled wine sales (still and sparkling; core revenue).
- Export sales via distributors / wholesalers (major share of volume/value).
- Direct-to-consumer sales (online orders, winery shop, wine club revenues).
- HoReCa and on-trade sales (restaurants, hotels).
- Private label production and bulk wine sales (B2B contracts).
- Wine tourism income (tastings, tours, events).
- Limited editions/special releases and licensing (occasional premium revenue).
